

Worksheet 4: Designing your panel

Based on what you've learned about design and communication, what type of mood or style do you want to communicate with your panel? Perhaps you can draw from some of the words you wrote down while listening to the music, or some of your findings from your research.

What techniques can you use to communicate this style? Think about things like typography, images, colour, and the layout of your panel. Use this space to keep track of your ideas.
